THE CREEK INDIANS LOYAL.—It appears that the Creek nation is neither to be coaxed or coerced into an alliance with rebellion. Hopoeithleyohola, the Chief of the Old Creeks, according to accounts from Fort Smith, of the 9th inst., was at the head of 3000 warriors, and had torn down the Confederate flag and hoisted the stars and stripes. McCullough had gathered 2000 Cherokees, Osages and Creeks, and a battalion of Cooper's regiment to march upon them at once; but the dilapidated condition of Price's prospects, and the very manifest want of all the force that could be raised to obstruct Fremont, had rather interfered with the scheme of punishing the loyal Creeks.

IT is not generally known that after the battle of Bull Run, in the exultation that followed that unexpected success, the penniless commissioners of the rebel States called upon Earl Russell to obtain the recognition they thought due to a government that had so fully shown its de facto character on the field, and were flatly refused an audience.

WHY IS IT SO?—An exchange says: "Fasten a nail or key to a string and suspend it from your thumb and finger, and the nail will oscillate like a pendulum. Let some one place his open hand under the nail and it will change to a circular motion. Then let a third person place his hand upon your shoulder, and the nail becomes in a moment stationary."

The Italian Government has contracted with Mr. Webb, shipbuilder of New York, for the furnishing of two iron-cased war frigates after the model of the French ship La Guerre.

A gentleman unaccustomed to public speaking, becoming embarrassed, whispered to his friend,
'Quick, quick, give me a word!'
Upon which the other replied,
'Yes, yes, what word do you want?'

MONDAY MORNING, JAN. 27, 1862.

Report of the Secretary of the Navy.

At the late special session of Congress, the Secretary presented enlarged estimates of expenditure for three different lines of naval operations: 1st, for closing the insurgent ports along nearly 3,000 miles of seacoast line and occupying the Potomac from its mouth to the capital; 2d, for organizing expeditions against various points of the coast; and 3d, for pursuing piratical cruisers.

Congress having given the authority, purchases were made and charters hastily executed for the exigency, and orders peremptorily issued to forthwith equip and prepare for service the public vessels that were dismantled and in ordinary at the several yards. The force thus hastily gathered was placed along the coast and divided into two squadrons, one of which, designated as the "Atlantic Blockading Squadron," had for its field of operation the whole coast, extending from the easternmost line of Virginia to Cape Florida, and was under the command of Flag-officer Silas H. Stringham. The other, or "Gulf Squadron," operating from Cape Florida westward to the Rio Grande, was commanded by Flag-officer William Mervine.

The duties imposed upon the flag-officers were soon found too extensive for execution by any two commanders. While the subject of dividing the squadrons was under consideration, Flag-officer Stringham (unaware of the fact) proposed to relinquish his command, which was acceded to, and two squadrons were organized on the Atlantic coast—Capt. Louis M. Goldsborough raising his flag on the Minnesota, September 23d, commanded that which guarded the Virginia and North Carolina coasts; Capt. Samuel F. Dupont, with the Wabash as his flag-ship, watched the South Carolina, Georgia and Florida coasts to Cape Florida. This blockading service, the Secretary thinks, is but a dull business for those engaged in it—the rebels have not commerce or navy enough to make it attractive.

The "Stone fleet," he says was sent to obstruct the channels of Charleston harbor and Savannah river.

Since the blockade was instituted, 153 vessels, sailing under various flags have been captured, most of them in the very act of attempting to violate it. [That is a portion of the report that we do not doubt the London Times brought all the force in its office to "ridicule," for it must be a very satisfactory one to all good loyal men.]

A Board consisting of Captains Samuel F. Dupont and Charles H. Davis, of the Navy, Major John G. Barnard, of the Army, and Professor Alexander Bache, of the Coast Survey, was convened, and to it a thorough investigation of the coast and harbors, their access and defences, was committed. From this Board came the data that satisfied the Government that the old "Port Royal Enterprise" of De Bow's Review was practicable, and that there was an opening for fame through Hatteras Inlet, which hitherto has had no place on our maps. The Secretary then briefly narrates the story of the Hatteras Inlet Expedition, under Flag-officer Stringham and Major Gen. Butler, and as briefly the story of the expedition of forty-eight sail, which, under Capt. Dupont, after encountering the severest storm of the season, stormed and took the well-built and thouroughly armed forts Beauregard and Walker, that commanded Port Royal entrance.

The Secretary notices the demonstration on Tybee Island, at the mouth of the Savannah river. He says that the dispatch of Flag-officer Dupont communicates the additional fact that the rebels themselves have, in anticipation of our action, placed obstructions in the river at Fort Pulaski.

Speaking of privateers, the Secretary says: "Such of them as eluded the blockade and capture were soon wrecked, beached or sunk, with the exception of one, the steamer Sumter, which, by some fatality, was permitted to pass the Brooklyn, then blockading one of the passes of the Mississippi, and after a brief and feeble chase by the latter, was allowed to proceed on her piratical voyage. An investigation of this whole occurrence was ordered by the department."

The Secretary notices and approves of the capture of Slidell and Mason, by Capt. Wilkes.

On the 4th of March last our Navy, all told, numbered 42 vessels, carrying 555 guns and about 7,600 men! The Home Squadron consisted of 12 vessels, of which only 4 were in Northern ports and available for service! Now we have a total of 264 vessels, of 218,016 tons, carrying 2,557 guns and 22,000 men!

When the vessels now building and purchased of every class, are armed, equipped, and ready for service, the condition of the navy will be as follows:

12 side-wheel steamers	48	8,400
3 iron-clad steamers	18	4,600
52	256	41,448

Making a total of 264 vessels, 2,557 guns, and 218,016 tons.

Congress at its summer session approved the action of the Government in ordering 31 light-draught steamers built, and ordered 8 more of from 1,000 and 1,400 tons each. Many of these are in commission to-day. When all are completed that have been ordered since the 4th of March, including 3 iron-clad now on the stocks, we will have 52 steamers peculiarly adapted, as the old Navy was not, to the blockade or coast guard service. It is a sign of the times that not a sailing vessel has been ordered.

The purchase of vessels was not made directly through the Department for fear of its being swindled, nor through boards of officers lest the ship-brokers shave them. "The selection and rejection of all vessels was exclusively committed to boards consisting each of an experienced naval constructor and engineer and an ordnance officer, stationed at New York and other principal cities. The making of the bargain was placed in the hands of a mercantile agency of a high and established character for integrity, experience and capacity," but his name does not appear.

The Board (consisting of Commodores Stringham and Inman, Capt. Dorrin, Chief Engineer Stevens and Prof. Henry) appointed to examine Stevens' battery, which has been building, and on which Congress has been spending mints of money during the whole of the past generation, and to say whether it can be of any service, has not yet reported.

The Secretary now comes to his recommendations. He proposes the following permanent organization for the navy:

Flag officer—to command squadrons.
Commodore,
Captain,
Commander,
Lieutenant commander, } To command single ships.
Lieutenant,
Master,
Passed Midshipman,
Midshipman,
Cadet.

So graduate the pay that there will be no aggregate increase; advance no one beyond the grade of Passed Midshipman except on the nomination of the President confirmed by the Senate, after examination by a Board of officers; let line officers be retired on liberal pay after forty-five years in the navy, unless specially called into active service by the President. There is no naval depot on the great lakes—to make our rights secure there, one should be established.

We close our abstract of Secretary Welles' able, clear, out-spoken and satisfactory report with two extracts—the first on the slavery question and the second on the finances of the Department:

"In the coastwise and blockading duties of the navy it has been not unfrequent that fugitives from insurrectionary places have sought our ships for refuge and protection, and our naval commanders have applied to me for instructions as to the dispositions which should be made of such refugees. My answer has been that if insurgents they should be handed over to the custody of the Government; but if, on the contrary, they were free from any voluntary participation in the rebellion, and sought the shelter and protection of our flag, then they should be cared for and employed in some useful manner, and might be enlisted to serve in our public vessels or in our navy yards, receiving wages for their labor. If such employment could not be furnished to all by the navy, they might be referred to the army, and if no employment could be found for them in the public service, they should be allowed to proceed freely and peaceably without restraint to seek a livelihood in any loyal portion of the country. This I have considered to be the whole required duty, in the premises of our naval officers."

"The amount appropriated at the last regular session of Congress for the naval service for the current year was $13,168,675 86. To this was added at the special session in July last $30,446,875 91—making for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1862, an aggregate of $43,615,551 77. There will be required to pay for vessels purchased, and for necessary alterations incurred in fitting them for naval purposes, the sum of $2,530,014; for the purchase of additional vessels, $2,000,000; and for the construction and completion of twenty iron-clad vessels $12,000,000—making a total of $16,530,000. This sum is independent of the estimates submitted for the next fiscal year, and being required for current expenses as well as for objects of immediate importance, it is desirable should receive early attention from Congress.

The estimates submitted by this Department for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1863, amount to $44,625,665 02, viz.:

For the navy proper	$41,096,530 25
For the marine corps	1,105,656 77
For navy yards, hospitals, magazines and miscellaneous objects	2,423,478 00

The Secession Movement in the Free States.

This is to talk of conciliation—to make peace with the men who have sought, without cause, to destroy the best government on earth,—to take to our bosoms the robbers of our people, the murderers of our citizens—as honest men; and place them in the control of the Government. This is the real object sought by northern secessionists always standing out in the movements of the secession press and party in Oregon, as elsewhere in the loyal States.

On this point the New York Christian Advocate pertinently says:

"This effort ought not to succeed, and must not. The only alternative is to put it down, or be put down by it, degraded, enslaved.—The effort of this nation is a Christian effort of self-defense. It has come on deliberately and thoughtfully, and will not pass away, if we do our duty, till it leaves us the purest and happiest nation on earth. Amen! That is the sentiment that should swell every American breast.

"Let the rebels who would cut the throat of the nation, and those who would cut our own throats to prevent some one else from doing it, share the same fate. Bullets and halters for the assassins of freedom everywhere, in every guise. Let them know that we mean it, that the government means it, that the nation means it, and let them make way for liberty or take the consequences."

Great Salt Lake City.—A Frenchman from Salt Lake City, writes—"The streets of Great Salt Lake City are perpendicular to the course of the Jordan, and cut at right angles by other streets, which run parallel to the river. The whole is surrounded by a mud rampart. Our travellers, who arrived here on the fifty-eigth day of their journey from Sacramento, were conducted to the town hall, and thence to the Union Hotel, kept by the Hon. Mr. Kinney, at that time supreme judge of the territory of Utah. All the streets are about forty yards in width, and were watered by rivulets of clear water, bordered by double rows of cotton-wood.—Every house has its own garden. Hence it is that the city is three miles in circumference. Brigham Young's residence was almost palatial. Thirty sultanas inhabit this harem, which is said to have cost $30,000 to the Mormon pontiff, whose personal fortune is said to exceed $400,000. He himself, however, lives with seventeen select wives in a house close by the palace, the roof of which is surmounted by a bee-hive, emblem of the industry and innocence of the inhabitants, or of the frequent honeymoons by which they celebrate their existence. Next to it are the "tithing" and other offices. Among other public buildings are also a court, a library and a social hall. A vast space is left for the erection of the temple, which is proceeding under the auspices of an English Mormon of the name of Angell.

Col. Baker.—Some of Gen. Stone's friends have asserted that Col. Baker acted without orders. Thurlow Weed wrote from Washington—"I was with the President last evening when the brother, son and nephew of the late Col. Baker, who were with him, called to show his orders. These orders were on his person, and were crimsoned and consecrated by his blood. Though the blood partially effaces the order, enough is legible to vindicate his memory. It is sufficient to say that the orders were clear and explicit, and that they were gallantly, generously and literally obeyed. Col. Baker, with inadequate means of transportation, went to the rescue of 600 Spartans, who were engaged with an enemy 4,000 strong."

Consuls Appointed.—Allen Francis, of Illinois, has been appointed Consul for Vancouver Island, and Peter Lock, has been appointed to the same position at Tehuantepec.

NEW TO-DAY.

Caution!

ONE WM. G. HALL having reported that he is a partner of mine in the Portland Soap Works, this is to give notice that he has nothing to do with the above business, either as partner or agent; and that I will not be responsible for any of his contracts. Said Hall has lately arrived here from San Francisco, out of funds, and has taken the above method of "raising the wind." He is formerly from the town of Kent, Litchfield county, Connecticut, where he is well known as a bad character, and boasts of being smart enough to make his living without honest labor. Description: Height about five feet six, rather squatty built, eyes rather large, and extremely large mouth and grummy countenance, quick spoken, and can be seen any hour of the day passing up and down Front street as though he was doing a land-office business. United States of America, District of Oregon, ss.

WHEREAS a libel has been filed by David Walling in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, on the 18th day of December, A. D. 1861, against the sloop Christina on a cause of subtraction of wages, civil and maritime; and whereas, in pursuance of process under the seal of said court, to me directed and delivered, I did, on the third day of January, A. D. 1862, arrest the said sloop Christina, and take said sloop into my custody. Now therefore, in accordance with the rules of the said District Court, I do hereby give public notice to all persons claiming said sloop Christina, or in any way interested therein, that they be and appear before the said District Court, to be held at the City of Portland on the first Monday in February, 1862, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, provided the same shall be a day of jurisdiction, otherwise on the next day of jurisdiction thereafter, then and there to interpose their claims, and to make their allegations in that behalf.

Telegraph Meeting!

SUBSCRIBERS TO THE CAPITAL STOCK of the [illegible] Telegraph Company are hereby notified that a meeting will be held at the Council Room in Portland, on Saturday, Jan. 25th, 1862, at 3 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of organizing said Company by the election of officers for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may properly be brought before the meeting.

Portland, Jan. 4th, 1862.

The Daily Oregonian.

CITY.

COMMON COUNCIL.—The Common Council of the City of Portland met on Friday, January 24th. Present—Councilmen Barr, Harbaugh, Hall, Holmes, Hallock, Masters, King and Higgins

On motion Councilman Hall was elected President [illegible]

The [illegible] of Arthur Fahie, requesting the Board [illegible] declare it a nuisance to throw manure [illegible] on lots, was referred to the Committee on Health and Police.

The reports of the Committee on Finance relative to the reports of the City Treasurer and Collector for the quarter ending December 31st, were on motion adopted

The report of the Finance Committee, relative to the minority report of the Committee on Fire and Water, of December 27th, on sundry bills for materials furnished and labor done on Engine House No. 1, was read, and on motion warrants were ordered drawn in favor of the different parties, excepting the sum of $15

Warrants were ordered to be paid in favor of G Townsend, $1 50, F. Ryan, $4, H. L Pittock, $7, S. J McCormick, $10, Wm Groome, $4 25, and the bill of the Portland Gas Light Company.

The fee bill of the City Recorder's Court in the case of the City of Portland vs D H Lownsdale, was, on motion, ordered paid.

The resolution appropriating the sum of $675 to pay Seymour & Joynt for hose, was called up, and on motion the Board adjourned.

THAT FOOT RACE — Quite a large crowd congregated on First street, between Stark and Oak, to witness a foot race which was reported to come off between a man by the name of "Poker John," and another known as "Lightfoot Wilson." At the appointed time, the former did not make his appearance on the track, and it was said that the latter received a forfeit of fifty dollars. While the crowd was waiting for the race to come off, they amused themselves by throwing snow balls, which represented a miniature battle. In connection herewith, we would suggest that Capt. Couch's addition or the race track across the river, are much better places than the public street.

DO WE LIVE IN A CIVILIZED COMMUNITY?—We are credibly informed that there are a number of those "moon-eyed cusses" in our midst who make their living by the prostitution of their countrywomen, whom they keep under a constant fear. Yesterday afternoon, the whole neighborhood on First street, above Morrison, was alarmed by the cries of a woman, which proceeded from one of these brothels, caused by the inhuman treatment of one of those scoundrels. We would inform the more industrious class of Chinamen among us, that if the evil complained of is not at once abated, we shall try a little of the Constitution of the State of Oregon on them as a remedy.

THE TELEGRAPH MEETING.—Owing to the stoppage of navigation, subscribers of stock to the proposed line, residing in the interior, were unable to be in attendance at the meeting on Saturday last. It was therefore resolved to adjourn until Wednesday evening next, at 7 o'clock.

REPAIRING THE WATER PIPES.—We notice Mr. Pentland quite busy repairing the water pipes throughout the city, which had bursted during the late frozen weather. Our citizens may therefore soon expect a supply of water in their buildings.

NAVIGATION ON THE WILLAMETTE. — The steamer Rival came down from Oregon City yesterday, bringing a large newspaper mail.

The Express will leave for the above place this morning, at half past eight o'clock, connecting with the steamer Onward, bound for Corvallis.

MORE SPORT.—Skating was again one of the sports indulged in yesterday. The pond in the north part of the city, is in splendid skating order.

The Vancouver, Capt. Turnbull, left yesterday for Vancouver, but had to return without reaching that point. The Columbia, below the mouth of the Willamette, as far as could be seen, was clear of ice. The Cowlitz was looked for last night.

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement.

100 KEGS EAST BOSTON SYRUP, for sale by
ROBBINS, CHITTENDEN & CO

SOUTHERN HOME VIEWS.—A thirty years' resident at the South, now in New York, gives the New York papers some interesting items. In regard to the situation of affairs in Mississippi and the adjoining States, he says:—"The talk about subjugating the North had pretty much ceased. A few months since there was a good deal said in regard to taking Washington, Philadelphia and New York; and they thoroughly count on having Illinois and Indiana on their side. Before the demonstrations after the Sumter affair, showing a united North, it was thought that it would be easy to reconstruct the Union, with new guarantees for slavery, and eject the New England States. Now, in private circles, there are numbers of discouragement, and that the South ought to have waited longer." Money is scarce, and it is next to impossible to make a collection. It has been customary for planters to draw on bankers in anticipation of their crops; but this cannot be done now. Freights on railroads are very light, and pay is taken in confederate bonds. There is great scarcity of leather, and it is feared that neither the army nor the negroes can be more than half shod. The cars are continually taking companies of soldiers eastward, and there is a marked diminution in the population in consequence. The poorer classes that are left can get little to do. Some time ago there were found one morning placards posted about the streets of New Orleans containing these words:—"Abraham Lincoln and plenty to eat; Jeff Davis and starvation." Subsequently, what was called the fortifications of the city were commenced, and a great number of the unemployed set at work. The New Orleans bankers don't like the looks of confederate bonds, and complain that the boundless issue of confederate money will work them great injury in depreciating values. Cotton, for local manufacture, sells at 5½ cents per pound. The planters have not bagging and rope enough to bale their present crop.

"The prospects isn't very good, I must confess but we havn't got to fight Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa men always. If we had, we couldn't do much. When we get hold of the Yankees of the Eastern States, we can always beat them."

"Why, Lieutenant, the Iowa men are all Yankees; so are a great many of the Illinois men."

"Ah, I didn't know that."

"Now, I wish you would tell me what your men are fighting for."

"I can tell you in a few words. I don't suppose you Western men care anything about our negroes, but we believe the lead men in the East, and Lincoln, not too mean to take away our slaves."

"You are much mistaken. Now, I'll tell you how we look upon the matter. We look upon you as opposed to a Free Government, and to what the people decide at the ballot-box. The old Government was good enough for all of us, and the war will last till you submit to it."

SELLING A LAWYER.—A man "down East" tells the following story:—He says he was taking a sleigh-ride with a pretty girl, when he encountered a minister, a favorite gospel itinerant in all the region round about. He stopped him, and asked him hurriedly:—"Can you tie a knot for me?" "Yes," said brother W——, "I guess so; when do you want it done?" "Well, right away," was the reply. "Is it lawful, though here, in the neighborhood?" asked the brother. "I never thought of that." "I don't know," was the response made, just as a young briefless lawyer drove up, to whom the case was submitted. "It depends on the sort of knot which he wishes tied," was the decision. "I want a knot tied in my horse's tail, to keep it out of the snow!" shouted the wicked wag, as he drove rapidly away, fearing lest the minister, in his profane wrath, should "fall from grace." At a safe distance he "slowed," and heard the lawyer demanding a fee of five dollars for professional "advice!" Rather "sharp practice;" but it was his "first case," and palpably a "knotty" one.

ANECDOTE OF THE WAR—At the battle of Belmont, Capt. Brooks, of Col. Buford's regiment discovered that he had a brother, a surgeon in an Arkansas regiment, who was killed by one of the men in the captain's own regiment. The surgeon was born in Indiana, but having lived several years in Louisiana had become a Secessionest. His widow was taken from Columbus, and is in the captain's family at Carbondale, Ill.

Capt. Brooks took several prisoners, and among others a lieutenant. The following conversation took place:

"What do you think your prospects are of being able to defend yourselves in this war, when we with only 2,800 men so terribly defeated your army of 7,000, took your guns, and burnt your camp?"

One pleasant day last Summer, I took my seat in the Stage Coach bound from Fall River to C——. Among the passengers was a little gentleman who had possibly seen five summers. The Coach being quite full, he sat in the lap of another passenger. While on the way something was said about pickpockets, and soon the conversation became general on that interesting subject. The gentleman who was then holding our young friend remarked:

My fine fellow, how easy I could pick your pocket!

No you couldn't replied he, I've been looking out for you all the time!

Certificate.—The undersigned, desirous of accompanying those who [illegible] to induce others similarly afflicted [illegible] where a permanent relief for their sufferings may be obtained, feels it his duty to thus publicly express his most sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, for the permanent recovery of his health. Borne down by the distressing symptoms incident to the vicious practices of uncontrollable passion in youth; depressed in body and mind, unable to perform even the most trifling duty imposed upon the ordinary avocations of life, I sought the advice of many physicians, who at first regarded my disease as of trifling importance, but, alas! after a few weeks, and in several instances, months, of their treatment, I found, to my unutterable horror, that instead of relief, my symptoms became more alarming in their torture; and being told by one that my disease being principally confined to the brain, medicine would be of little consequence, I despaired of ever regaining my health, strength and energy; and as a last resort, and with but a faint hope, called upon Dr. Czapkay, who, after examining my case, prescribed some medicine which almost instantly relieved me of the dull pain and dizziness in my head. Encouraged by the result, I resolved to place myself immediately under his care, and by a strict obedience to all his directions and advice, my head became clear, and my ideas collected, the constant pain in my back and groins, the weakness of my limbs, the nervous reaction of my whole body on the slightest alarm or excitement, the misanthropy and evil forebodings, the self-distrust and want of confidence in others, the incapability to study, and want of resolution, the frightful exciting, and at times pleasurable dreams at night, followed by involuntary discharges, have all disappeared; and in fact, in two months after having consulted the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience, that once under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

MARYSVILLE, June 2d, 1855.

Dr. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine, and do not think I shall need any more, as I feel very well except that I have not entirely got my strength yet, but soon will with the appetite I have. It is now three weeks, you may recollect, since I called at your institute, with my constitution, as I thought, broken entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and tremble at every noise. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those symptoms, and the removal of those sores and blotches from my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and the entire stoppage of those emissions, which you said were principally the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except not having fully got my strength, I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, and think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefitted, you may put this letter in the newspapers. Believe me gratefully yours, THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude.

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves a commendation [illegible] the skill, but that of humanity also. About two years ago I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of epilepsy, which owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the discouragement which I met with in attempting it, soon became such, I was then led to believe, as to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning, and although insensible to the agonies, I yet despised the [illegible] of my life, and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my miseries. While in this state, and having [illegible] to my affliction, [illegible] I once more was induced to attempt, seeking the aid of a physician, and by recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances, and of my inability to reward him for his services; regardless of which, however, he at once undertook my case, and with the blessing of God, I was once more restored to perfect health. [illegible] I consider it due to myself and all afflicted to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.
